The remains were interred in the cemetery at Prospect on Thursday, Dr. McCreary conducting the funeral ceremonies.

The trial of Andrew Peyton, accused of burning the C. S. Bell & Co. house, occupied the attention of the Mayor's Court for four days last week. The evidence as brought out by the State was chiefly circumstantial, and the defense stoutly contradicted the circumstantial evidence. A horse was tracked from the house that was burned to some distance in the direction of Peyton's home. The State's theory is that this horse was shot all round, while the defense maintains that Peyton's horse were only three shots at that time. The State identified the horse, and introduced the testimony of the blacksmith who shot the horse on Wednesday after the burning. The trial feeling existing between the Misses Clutter and the family of the accused was deepened in testimony, and the defense's attitude was that Peyton returned through Cuyahoga from a recent visit, and did not pass the Clutter house at all. Peyton was bound over to await the action of the grand jury in the sum of $300.

THE WILL TO BE LITTED.

J. N. is Going to Assume All.

In a note to his many friends in Hillsboro, he still maintains that if no price is given him for his services, he will not be given to his friends, and he knows only by his initials, J. N., the mysterious force which has been a destructive of reason for almost a third of a century will be fully mastered. J. N. thinks the people of Hillsboro can not only now assemble, but Leeburg, Chillicothe, Columbus, and all other places where he has been treated so kindly, before truth had gained an ascendancy over evil and error. J. N. will lift the veil on the truth, in the Chillicothe, Chillicothe, and its mysteries, or how little we knew. To sustain his cause, a very small audience will be thankfully received. Ladies free, and cordially invited. All for truth, which is J. N.'s ideal.

DIEN-HART.

Marriage of Mr. Morris Dien and Miss Lilla V. Hart.

"Hear the mellow wedding bells, golden bells."

At high noon on Thursday, the 25th inst., at the residence of Governor and Mrs. Hart, was married Mr. Morris Dien, of Washington, D. C., and Miss Lilla V., daughter of Governor Hart.

The splendid parlor of the Hart mansion was handsomely decorated for the occasion with beautiful flowers. On the piano was a bank of smilax, in which glistened hundreds of fine crystals. The mantels were covered with satin, while between the front windows was suspended a large yoke of roses and hyacinths.

The guests were assembled and at the clock was chiming the noon hour, the young couple, with their attendants took their places under the arch of bright flowers. The bride was attended by Miss Cora E. Bell, of Hillsboro, and Miss Florence Rhoads, of Hillsboro, and the groom by Mr. R. C. McKinney, of Washington, D. C., and Mr. Ed. Hart, of Columbus. The marriage ceremony, which was appropriate and impressive, was performed by Rev. W. J. McCreary, assisted by Rev. Geo. H. Doolittle.

The lovely bride has long been a favorite in Hillsboro society, and never looked more beautiful or appeared more charming than on this occasion. She was attired in an elegant cream colored suit with lace and tulle. The skirt was trimmed with a profusion of fine lace and at the corage was a large bunch of natural lilies of the valley. She wore as ornaments diamonds and pearls. The first bridesmaid, Miss Cora E. Bell, was responded to in a handsome dress, with drapings of silk and lace. She wore Rose Blanche roses at the corage. The other bridesmaid wore white satin with lace, with Marchal Niel roses at the corage. The groom and groomsmen were becomingly attired for the occasion.

The interesting ceremony was witnessed by about fifty of the relatives and friends of the parties, who showered upon them congratulations and expressed many wishes for their future happiness. The wedding breakfast was an elegant repast and was enjoyed to the fullest extent by all present. As Mr. and Mrs. Dien were to leave on the afternoon train many of the guests remained to wish them "God speed," and to throw after them the good luck slipper. They will in the future reside in Washington, D. C., where Mr. Dien holds responsible positions with the U. S. Geological Survey. After a short sojourn at Richmond, Virginia, and Old Point Comfort they will be "at home" to their friends at No. 111 Thirteenth street N. W., Washington, D. C.

A number of the guests present from a distance were Mr. E. L. Hart and Mr. VanTyle, of Cleveland, Mr. Rush Evans, of Niles, Michigan, and the grandmother of the bride, Mrs. Peck, a bright and interesting lady of over 70 years of age.

At the time that the bride received many presents of articles of value and use, a list of which would be too long for our space.

Parting from Mrs. Dien her many friends in Hillsboro are sorry to lose her from their midst. She has with her her fondle hopes that her married life may be one of unalloyed happiness, and that her bright anticipations may be realized.

THE SEAL OF DOOM.

Appended to a Number of Democrats.

Lots of Liquor and Plenty of Wire-Pulling.

The reporter who was delegated from the News force to write up the Democratic Township Convention last Monday afternoon was not a pair of shoes hunting for the thing, and couldn't find it. Finally, in the bitter agony of despair, he succumbed to an attack of painter's colic yesterday morning, and departed this life hourly. The Democrats will take place for the office tomorrow morning, the foreman officiating. The man who afterward undertook the task has found that six of the faithful hastily congregated in the Probate Judge's office and endorsed a late ticket. The hour of that meeting will pass into history, shrouded in mystery. The convention was billed for the court room at 10 o'clock, but the editor of the Gazette who issued the call was at that time holding court in that room, and so it became necessary for that august body to convene elsewhere. The Gazette ring came to an attack of painter's colic yesterday morning, and departed this life hourly. The Democrats will take place for the office tomorrow morning, the foreman officiating.
